

List of Potential Mills Connected to Johnson Johnson Palm-Based Derivatives Supply Chains

List of Potential Mills in Palm-Based Derivatives Supply Chains Provided by Johnson & Johnson Direct Suppliers in 2020

Johnson & Johnson sources soap noodles and oleochemical derivatives for use in a wide range of personal care products from multiple suppliers with sites around the world. These suppliers, in turn, source both derivatives and palm and palm-kernel oils from a web of supply options including refineries, traders and crushers to make products for all their customers, not only Johnson & Johnson. As product is mixed, derived, and traded along the supply chain it becomes increasingly challenging to trace specific volumes of derivatives to specific mills. This means the lists of mills provided to us from our suppliers represent mills that are potentially linked to our supply chains—being listed does not necessarily mean a mill is connected to our specific volumes. However, we work with our direct suppliers to address nonconformances with our Responsible Palm Oil Sourcing Policy, regardless of whether we can establish with certainty their direct connection to our specific supply chains.

The list provided below is based on aggregated information provided to Earthworm Foundation, by our suppliers. It is therefore a snapshot in time based on the volumes purchased in 2020. Additionally, we provide our suppliers' mill information only with their express permission. We will continue to work alongside Earthworm Foundation, and our top suppliers (by volume), to improve the quality and completeness of our data so we may identify risks, validate sources and, if needed, remediate nonconformances with our Responsible Palm Oil Sourcing Policy.

Based on the mill list we are permitted to share publicly, our soap noodle traceability is at nearly 78% and our oleochemical traceability is at nearly 69% to potential mills. We update our potential mill list on an annual basis on inj.com.
